Tip 2.

Green wood turning:

If you are stopped during the turning process, someone says supper is on!!!!, or what ever. Just remove from chuck, put in a plastic bag and put in refrigerator or freezer for a day or 2-3. It moves very little. Just remember the wood will be cold when you turn it again, so you may want to wear a glove. Unless you like cold hands.

It's sure less messy than end grain goop, of course you do need refrigerator room. I am fortunate to have one in my shop.
